Information on working in Latvia

*The maximum daily working time of an employee may not exceed eight hours, and the maximum weekly working time – 40 hours. Regular working time of employees exposed to special risk may not exceed seven hours a day and 35 hours a week if they are engaged in such work for not less than 50 percent of the regular daily or weekly working time. The Cabinet may determine regular shortened working time also for other categories of employees (Section 131, Labour Code).

*The amount of minimum wage is stated by Cabinet of Ministers and apply for all industries. Minimum monthly wage within the framework of regular working time (40 hours per week) in 2015 is Euro 360 per month (minimum hourly rate - Euro 2.166).

*The length of a one-day rest within a period of 24 hours shall not be less than 12 consecutive hours and the length of a weekly rest period within a seven-day period shall not be less than 42 consecutive hours (Sections 142, 143, Labour Code). Every employee has the right to a break in work if his or her daily working time exceeds six hours. Breaks must be granted not later than four hours after the start of work (Section 145, Labour Code).

*Annual paid leave may not be less than four calendar weeks, not counting public holidays. By agreement between an employee and the employer, annual paid leave in the current year may be granted in parts, but one part of the leave in the current year must not be less than two uninterrupted calendar weeks. It is not permitted to compensate annual paid leave with money, except in cases where the employment relationship is terminated and the employee has not used his or her annual paid leave (Section 149, Labour Code).
